

FRANCESCO SINDICO

University of Surrey

F. Sindico@surrey.ac.uk

Francesco Sindico has an undergraduate degree in Law from the University of Turin, Italy and an LLM in International Law and International Relations from the Autonoma University in Madrid, Spain. Currently he is concluding his doctoral thesis in which he explores the relationship between the climate change regime and international trade within the context of the current debate on fragmentation in public international law. His supervisor is Prof. Jorge Cardona Llorens from the Universitat Jaume I , Castellon de 2002 la Plana, Spain. He is a former Marie Curie Fellow at the Institute for Environmental Studies of the Free University in Amsterdam and Visiting Researcher at the University College London and at the University of Geneva. Francesco Sindico currently covers the following posts: he is Secretary of the Bancaja Euromediterranean Courses in International Law; he serves as Associate Editor of the Carbon and Climate Law Review and he is a member of the editorial board of the Revista Electronica de Estudios Internacionales, He is also a member of the European Society of International Law and of the Spanish International Law Association.

